

ABSTRACT

A system and method for inventory management is described. A method for managing an inventory, the method comprising. In one embodiment, the method includes the steps of establishing an account for a customer; receiving product information, the product information corresponding to a non-fungible product selected by the customer; verifying that the account balance is equal to or greater than a cost associated with the selected product; adjusting the account balance by the cost associated with the selected product; determining a location for the selected product; and transferring the unique product identifier and the determined location to a delivery device.

10074363.021202